DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- LS
10/24/03
- I. Claims 1 and ^{II}~~2~~, drawn to "a commodity order-taking method and recording the order on a slip."
 - II. Claims 2 and 12, drawn to "a commodity order-taking system and reading contents on a slip at specific locations."
 - III. Claims 3, 5, 13 and 15 drawn to "a commodity order-taking method and recording the order and a customer number on a slip."
 - IV. Claims 4, 6, 14 and 16, drawn to "a commodity order-taking system and input means."
 - LS
10/24/03 V. Claims 7, 9, ~~11~~ and 19, drawn to "a commodity order-taking method and transmitting order to a controller by wireless."
 - VI. Claims 8, 10, 18 and 20, drawn to "a commodity order-taking system and input means for entering and transmitting commodity data by wireless."

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I, II, III, IV, V and VI are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, inventions I, II, II, IV, V and VI have separate utilities. Invention I is a commodity order-taking method, which records the order on a slip and read the slip using a reader at the order window.

Invention II is a commodity order-taking system, which reads contents on a slip having a commodity name and its quantity recorded thereon at specific locations. Invention III is a commodity order-taking method, which records the order and a customer number on a slip, and registers the order and the customer number into a register before being accepted at the order window. Invention IV is a commodity order-taking system with input means for entering contents of a slip having a commodity name, its quantity and a customer number recorder thereon. Invention V is a commodity order-taking method, which transmits order to a controller by wireless. Invention VI is commodity order-taking system with input means for entering and transmitting commodity data by wireless which data includes commodity name, its quantity, selling price as well as an identification number. Thus, Inventions I, II, III, IV, V and VI have different functions/effects and could be used separately. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: Species I, Figures 1-8; Species II, Figures 8-14; Species III, Figures 15-19, Species IV, Figures 20-24; Species V, Figures 25-27; Species VI, Figures 28-30.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, there are no generic claims.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

5. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

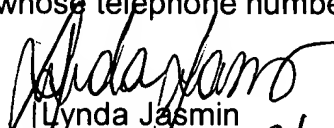

Art Unit: 3627

6. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

7. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Lynda Jasmin whose telephone number is (703) 305-0465. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday- Friday (8:00-5:30) alternate Fridays off.
